PocketSmart AI – Smart Budget & Recommendation Assistant

Code Layout, Readability and Reusability

• The project separates the frontend and backend into independent areas.

• The backend application contains configuration, AI, database, model, schema and main application modules.

• The frontend uses a React/Vite structure for the user interface.

• Environment configuration keeps sensitive Gemini credentials outside frontend source code.

• Reusable API and database components make future feature changes easier.